

The PreCord Files

Last Updated: 7/28/2023

This is one of many copies of the original PreCord Files Document, as the original was taken down “as a violation of Google TOS”, most likely mass reported by the staff themselves.

Remember that the PreCord staff are still ignoring everyone's concerns and dismissing it as “drama”. Do not stop talking about the content in this document and continue to spread awareness.

Disclaimer

The creator of this doc does not condone any harassment of anyone involved or hate raids of any of the involved servers. Do NOT harass, threaten, or raid any of the servers or people involved. Doing so makes you no better than the people you think you're proving something to, so be mature and act nice. This is a serious safety issue and not just Discord drama. If you wish to not support PreCord, the best way to do so is to not go near the server including any of their social media accounts or leave if you're in it, NOT violating Discord's TOS and harassment.

If you want to read only the most disgusting of PreCord's many crimes for easier reading, skip to pages 7-10 (details how a member of PreCord who is a minor had to fight for their groomer to get banned, showing how the staff is careless in regards to keeping the children members that they know make up a decent portion of their serverbase safe from creeps), 20-25 (A PreCord admin that retweeted suggestive fanart of a minor is confronted in DMs by a 15 year old member of the server and admin attempts to gaslight them with repulsive claims they're a pedophile), 32-40 (quite possibly the most egregious thing PreCord and their staff have done: someone reporting to one admin that a staff-adjacent member has had an extremely racist past with detailed proof and screenshots, and then dismissed because the screenshots were 6 years old despite the content shown being extremely irredeemable with the member in question still being in the server to this day), 41-45 (An admin threatens to report the owner of a server spreading awareness of PreCord, accuses teenage NBPS staff of bullying her, and general manipulation/guilt tripping tactics) and 45-49 (demonstrates how both the PreCord staff horribly react to the concerns and criticisms of others who try to speak up about its issues, that includes acting hostile towards other Precure servers by shifting the blame on them instead of listening to the serious allegations.)

Background Information

Precure Discord servers have a long history (spanning several years) of being run by sketchy people (usually pedophiles) who are trying to monopolize the English-speaking fandom primarily.

Old Precure Server

Before the server deletion, the staff had a bit of infighting. In June 2021, Precord was made due to instaff fighting between Inu and Sak but was not open to the public until September of that year.

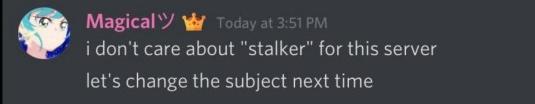

The server was deleted in March 2022 due to the owner being called out for being in a Precure Hentai Server and a variety of other mod abuse. The server had 2 “owners”, being both Sak and Hannah, and the ownership of the server would flip flop between the 2 frequently.

However, Hannah is suspected to be one of many alts owned by Sak due to his history of making them, connecting back that an alt of Hannah's could just be another of Sak's alts. This can be seen as Sak putting less trust in his staff by basically having himself as the owner twice and lying to the staff team. After the deletion, NPS was made, thus beginning the chapter of NPS and PreCord. An announcement was made in NPS regarding what happened:

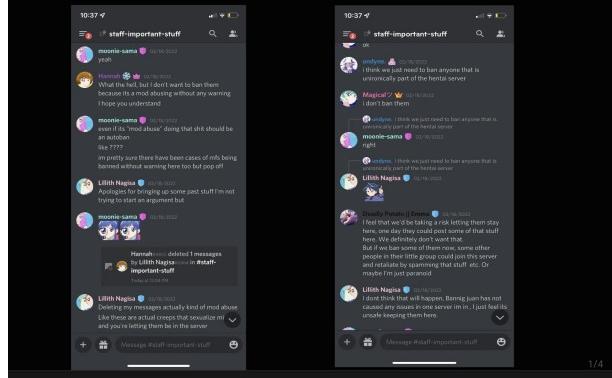

Basically a short summary of what happened.
behind the scenes:

◇When my stalkers joined big precure server, sak decided to go against me and tell me that he doesn't care about stalkers making me pressured and threatened by my stalkers everyday.

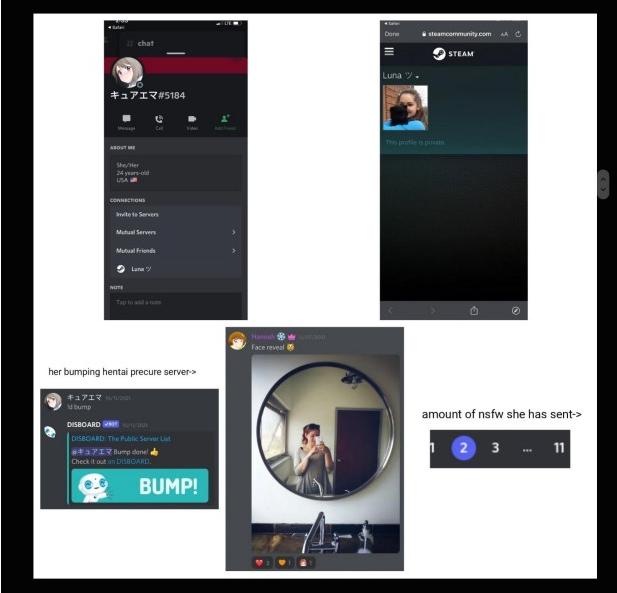

◇Sak and Hannah didn't ban the people in hentai precure who has contributed there as "they don't break any rules and its mod abuse", and this goes against the TOS. We begged for over 4 months for Sak and Hannah to ban them but they didn't listen. And then they decided to delete our messages too which goes against the rules of the server .

◇What's even worse is that apparently hannah has an alt in hentai precure in which she posts precure nsfw. Sak defends her as well.

◇Sak abuses his power by not letting his staff help him choose who is going to be the new mod, and instead he let's his "friends" choose who gets to be the mod. And this is because he doesn't want me nor the people defining me interfere with his actions.

◇Instead of hannah and sak banning the people in hentai prelude, they decided to ban a poor guy who asked about emotes. They also forced me to join other servers and spy too or otherwise I'll be pressured by them 24/7. I apologise and deeply regret my actions if I have hurt anyone, I tried not to but the matter wasn't in my hands.

◇Sak decided to nuke the staff chat so that the new mods won't know anything.

◇Before the server got deleted, sak and hannah decided to ban me, curelucky and moonie for standing up against those gross actions.

◇There's even more fucked up stuff that has happened which is why the staff members are taking their time for making a proper explanation. We don't know why exactly Sak decided to delete his server as well.

>>>IMPORTANT: DO NOT GO AND GIVE THREATS TO ANY OF THE STAFF MEMBERS MENTIONED HERE.<<<
The staff members has done nothing wrong, and they all stood up with me against sak and hannah, which I really appreciate. Instead, show this server some love! ♥

If there is any question/doubt, you can send me a friend request and tell me! I will listen, don't worry~☆

PreCord and Its Many Problems

PreCord is a Discord server created and run by a man going by the name Inu/Inubashiri. (<https://twitter.com/bakainubashiri>)

He is around 40 years old, and has been a fan since 2004. PreCord was created due to Inu, Blossom, Build, simzo, Reza, and klmnz disagreeing with the owner of DPS on how to run things.

He does not respond well to members expressing concerns and also condones child abuse (The tweet is still up as of writing this and has multiple archives on the Wayback Machine).

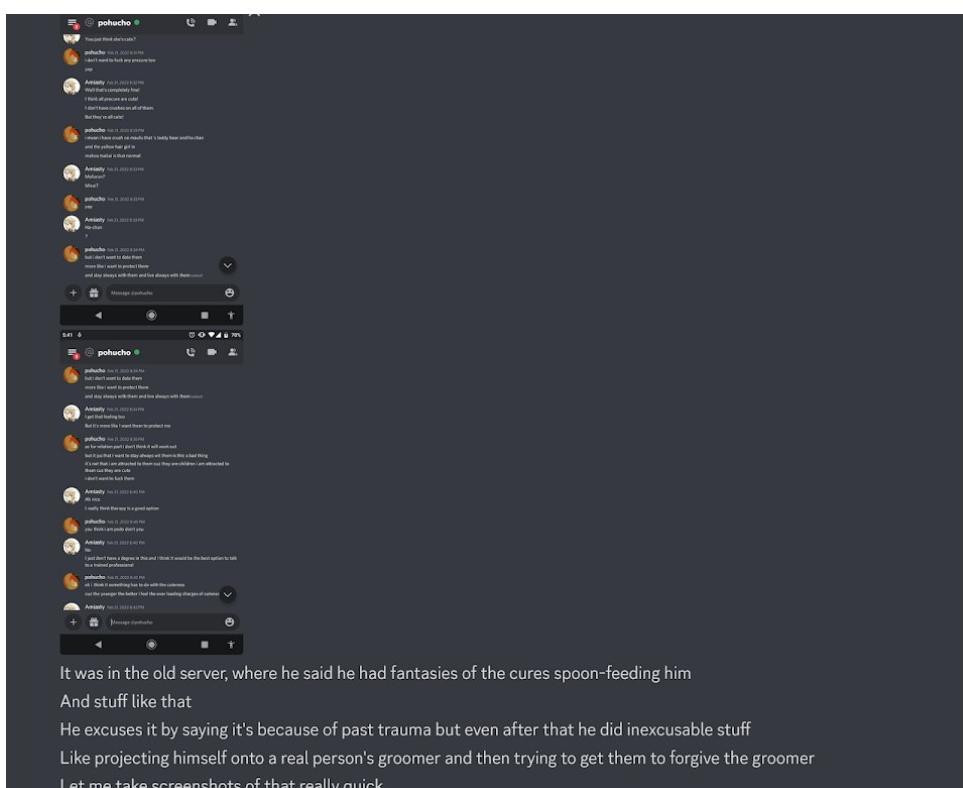

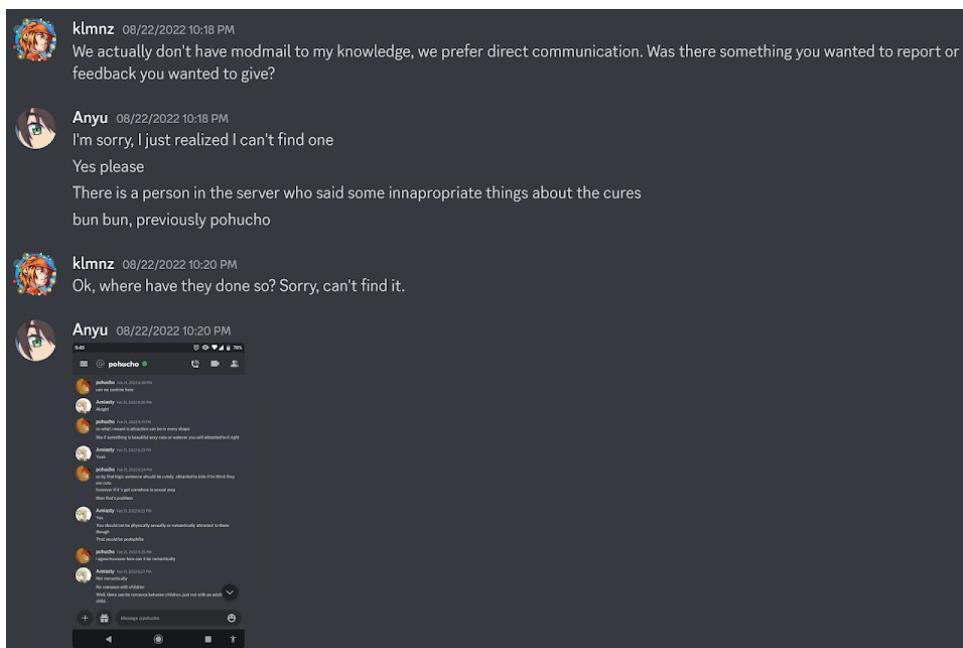

<https://web.archive.org/web/20200323094636/https://twitter.com/Bakalnubashiri/status/124196792044555878>) Inu and his staff have previously ganged up on a minor and he claimed the server would be destroyed by said minor.

Inu is also a cishet man, and it seems he was getting mad at people harmlessly shipping Mashiro and Sora and calling certain scenes gay.

Echo was 12 years old when they were talking with a pedophile in discord. When DPS was deleted, the predator found out they were not banned on NPS or PreCord. As soon as Echo told the mods on NPS about this person, the mods immediately went to work to ban the person. Echo soon realized that the predator was not banned on PreCord, so they immediately contacted the staff of PreCord. After supplying a mountain load of proof, klmnz says it had to have happened in PreCord in order to make the ban.

Please proceed with caution as you read the texts.

It was in the old server, where he said he had fantasies of the cures spoon-feeding him

And stuff like that

He excuses it by saying it's because of past trauma but even after that he did inexcusable stuff

Like projecting himself onto a real person's groomer and then trying to get them to forgive the groomer

Let me take screenshots of that really quick

First, have you blocked them yet?

Anyu 08/22/2022 10:30 PM
Not yet
I'm a bit scared to
I have bad anxiety lol
That's also why I couldn't tell him no when he kept asking
I'm sorry

klmnz 08/22/2022 10:36 PM
These are mostly private conversations, see rule #18. I don't think anything here quite rises to the level where we may need to be involved, yet.

Please block them and if they get weird with you on server, like keep trying to contact you, then we know and we'll be able to step in given that that'll then be using our server for harassment and it will be dealt with swiftly.

Also, we have to make our own determinations, so even if actions have been taken against them on other servers, we have to kinda see it over here too before we do anything.

But yeah, I've made the mods aware, we'll be on the lookout, I'd block first, and if they keep trying anything through the server, we can help from there. Absolutely no need to be sorry about it, I get it.

Anyu 08/22/2022 10:36 PM
Thank you and alright. I'll keep you posted for anything important.

Inu is very aware that there are minors in Precord as seen here:

 Inubashiri 10/05/2022 10:13 PM
I don't think though those topics really care if you're a "minor" or not, they are a symptom of human existence

 Inubashiri 09/19/2022 6:31 PM
We have a decent sized minor population so we must set a min standard of conduct

 Inubashiri 08/13/2022 12:48 AM
Considering there are minors here and potential could be to get in trouble if said minors parents saw it, we'd rather just blanket eliminate such problems.

@Daiquanpinckney4 please remember the rule about age restriction content, there are minors in this server

#💬 「general」

one thing I should state, your channel is your own business but in here being a public server and minors lets be careful about H-Content please

To solve this issue, the mods put Echo and the GROOMER into a chat together to “talk it out”. The groomer was thankfully banned later, but the fact there was a fight to get a literal pedophile banned from this server is concerning, even more concerning knowing that the staff team are all over the age of 18. Regardless of your stance on sexualizing fictional minors or problematic ships like Precord has condoned before, putting real minors in danger because you refused to click one button is absolutely vile. This is NOT the first time they've neglected to ban actual groomers/predators either, and others continue to be in the server or even active to this day even after being shown all the proper proof.

There was also a mishandling of an incident regarding another minor who had been wrongfully banned and someone who had been stalking/harassing/dragging her friends and the Precord staff applied the same tactics as they did with the Echo and their groomer. The writer of the doc has been asked by the person involved to not share anything else or name names so that's about all that can be given about this second incident.

A pro-lifer man was also neglected to be banned in PreCord, as he wasn't active for a few months in the server (This is a common occurrence to any awful people being reported there).

PreCord's mods posting concerning fanart

 「fan-creations」

Check the pin regarding the channel atm. You should be able to see it at least.

This channel is for fanart from other people of any piece of media. Make sure you post the link where you found the fanart. Do not post problematic ships, or things that make people uncomfortable.

Make sure you source all fanart and fan content on the server with a direct link. For fanart, try using Image Search Options \(Chrome\) or Image Search Options \(Firefox\) to find the source. Note: Note that some artist's profiles may contain art that is NSFW (age restrictive).

These are the rules for the channel, the rules are seemingly never enforced as problematic shipping art and SFW art from NSFW artists are still posted freely and without any warnings or repercussions.

In the #-creations channel, the mods will often post fanart they found on Twitter and other sources, though a lot of the fanart they have been sharing has been concerning. A lot of fanart they repost seems to be harmless until you read the caption, which in Japanese, reads out problematic ship names such as “TsubAge”, “TsubaEllee,” “AgeMashi”, “ShalaSora” and “NozoCoco”. Reza is the one that posts most of the questionable fanart, however there is also a regular non-staff member who frequently posts art that is obviously intended to be romantic of TsubAge/TsubaEllee (adult/minor and 12 year old/literal baby). They have seemingly never gotten warned or questioned despite the claims from mods that PreCord does not allow problematic ships. This could be easily fixed by blacklisting questionable artists with a bot filter/the ship names in Japanese characters and getting rid of the posters, but the staff clearly does not care as much as they pretend to. Allowing the work of artists that post suggestive or straight NSFW content of characters that are under 18 also poses a safety hazard to the real minors in the server as they can very easily click on the artists’ page and get exposed to content they should not be shown, ever.

1. Ageha (18) and Mashiro (13), though in a seemingly innocent art, have their ship name in Japanese.
2. Artist is known for shipping Sora (13) and Shalala (adult, unconfirmed age). In the anime, Sora first sees Shalala when she was a child. At that time, Shalala was much older than Sora and still is to this day.

1. Art with the TsubAge ship name, Tsubasa (12) blushing as Ageha (18) holds him.
2. Tsubasa (12) in between Ageha (18) and Yukari (17), embarrassed to not look at both of their chests. One of the art's tags are #oneeshota and #bellybuttoncure which raises concerns.

1. Hikaru (13) touching Lala's (13) breast.
2. Tsubasa (12) positioned close to Ageha's (18) breasts in a hug. Artist is also known for cp nsfw.
3. Though the art in itself isn't bad, the artist also ships Tsubasa x Ageha, where they drew an aftermath of that art of Tsubasa being jealous that Ageha got bridal carried by the other and another drawing of Tsubasa x Ageha Magnet ship art.

1. Rio and Ciel (13) are twins, but as you can see from the red underline, are posted in PreCord's shipping channel.
2. Nozomi is depicted as a child shipped with, though unconfirmed age, a young adult, Coco. In the anime, Nozomi is 14-15 and Coco becomes her school teacher, hence heavily implied that he's old enough to apply as a teacher. A student x teacher ship.
3. Asuka (15) and Yuriko (14-15) in suggestive outfits.

1. Lala (13) is drawn during her transformation, however, in a way that you can see her nipples and underwear upon closer inspection when the anime doesn't depict her transformation that way.
2. Ship art of TsubaEllee, where Ellee is depicted as older with Tsubasa (12). In the anime, Ellee is a literal baby and hasn't grown up yet. Even if she does grow up, it's still weird to ship her with someone, Tsubasa, who first met her as a baby and took care of her.

The questionable fanart also was posted in a ship channel, which before being called out, there was no indication of it being platonic or romantic. The term “shipping” is usually referring to romantic relationships.

Inu also has a tendency to retweet strange fanart of minors. He has also retweeted a piece of fanart where Elena was whitewashed and clearly sexualized. Another is an implied NozCoco ship art.

1. Elena (14), who is a tan Japanese-Mexican is whitewashed.
2. Nozomi (14) in an implied NozCoco ship art, again, a student x teacher ship.

Setsuna Yuuki (夜木 セツナ)

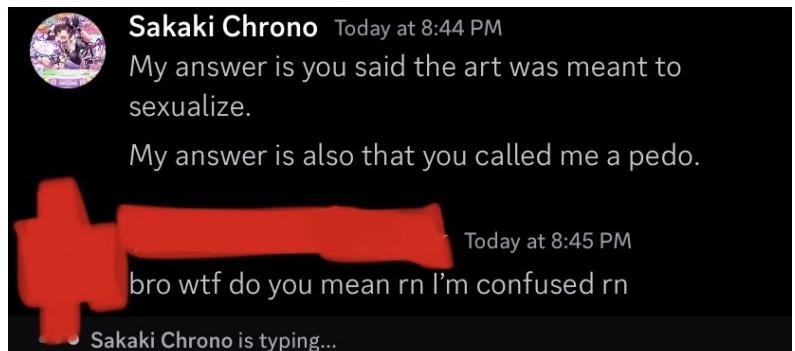

Height: 154cm
Birthday: August 8th
Blood type: O

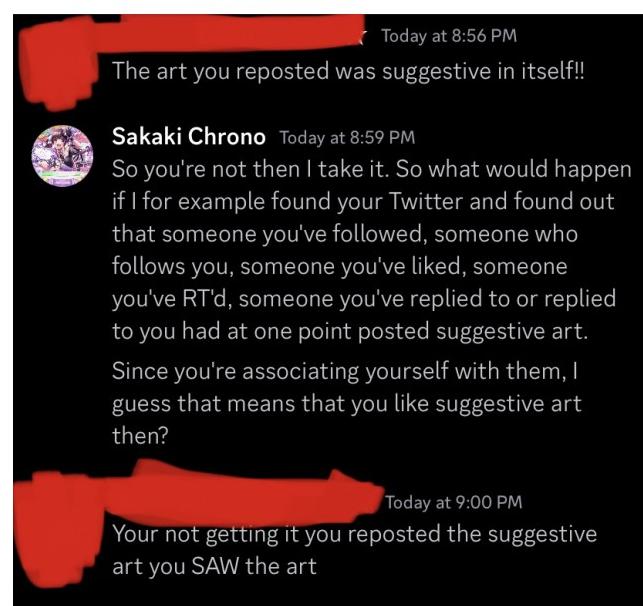

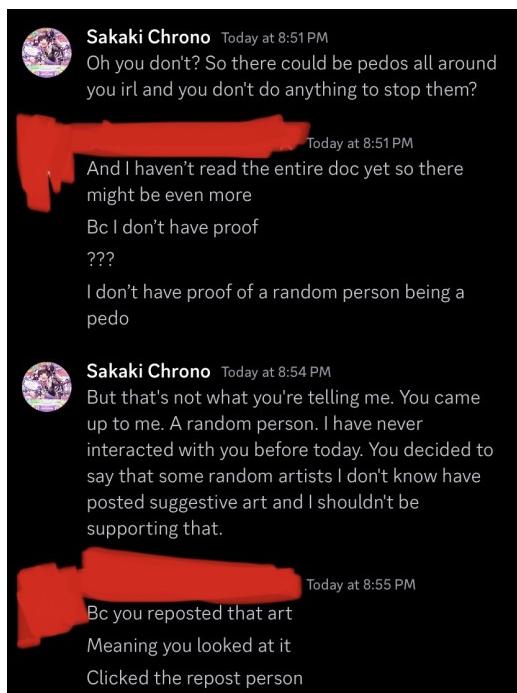

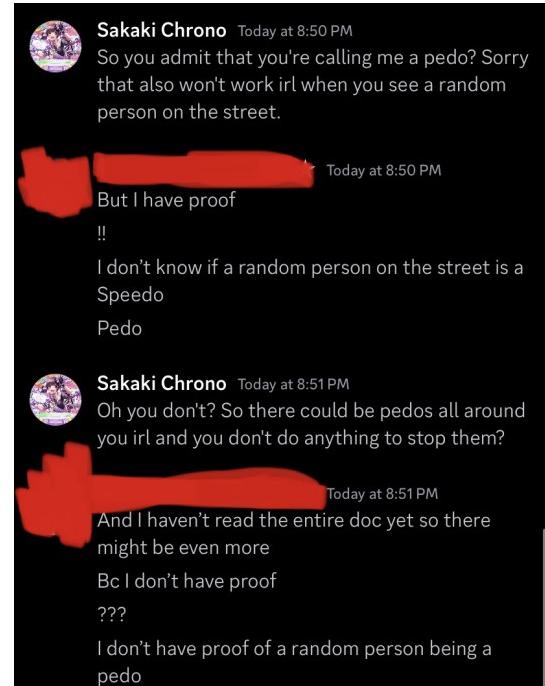

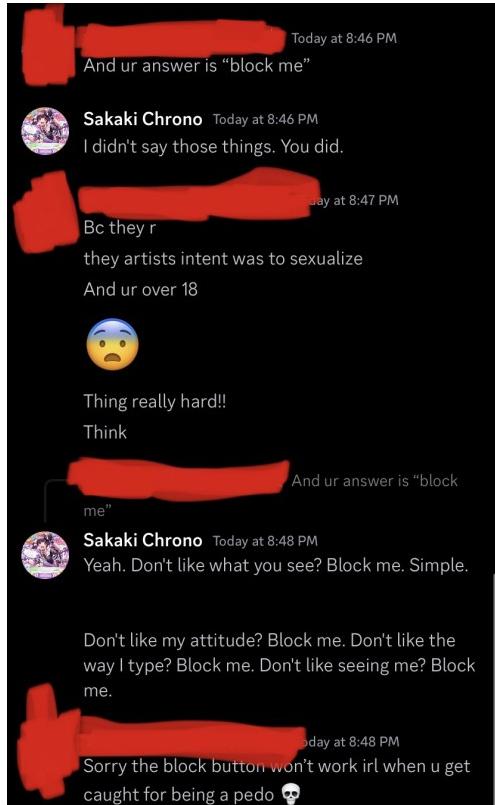

A second-year at Nijigasaki and a rising star of the school idol world. Setsuna's energetic smile and great performances draw many eyes. She loves anime and manga, and if you get her talking about either, she won't stop. Since she's so busy with her idol work, she has urban legend-style rumors surrounding her, stating that no one has ever seen her on campus.

← Info of said character in fanart, who is a highschooler.

On 7/27/2023, one (15 year old) user that was in PreCord asked the above admin Sakaki about the fanart he was retweeting in the server itself. He implored them to DM him if “[they] had a problem”, which they obviously did. Unfortunately this attempt in “defending” himself was not a success in any way, and instead thought it was a great idea to basically gaslight a child into thinking they are possibly a pedophile for consuming pornographic content and interrogating them into what porn they’re watching (This may be straight up illegal to talk to a minor about such content in the US), along with suggesting people under 18 cannot fathom what is suggestive/NSFW or not. Here are the most alarming excerpts of the DMs. Remember that Sakaki is at least 21 years old.

I sure hope for your sake, that they're all 100% clean because you'd certainly get all the accusations you're sending towards me sent towards you as well.

Got it. I'll be sure to tell everyone that according to a rando. Minors can't be allowed to be in swimsuits because that could be taken as sexualized and that possible LGBTQ+ characters can not be shown together being in love because if they're minors. That could also be taken as sexualized.

Is that incorrect?

But now you know supposedly know what is and isn't sexual even though you're a minor.

[REDACTED] Today at 9:41 PM

Yeah I can

I'm a fucking teenager

I've seen shit

The only way to know if something is sexualized is if you yourself know what that looks like.

So, really the issue would be "person has knowledge of what being sexual looks like and they may use that against people younger than them"

In which case, you could potentially be a pedo as well.

I've watched porn

If you go through ANOTHER mod's likes, their likes are filled with underage nsfw and suggestive art, some of which is AI art.

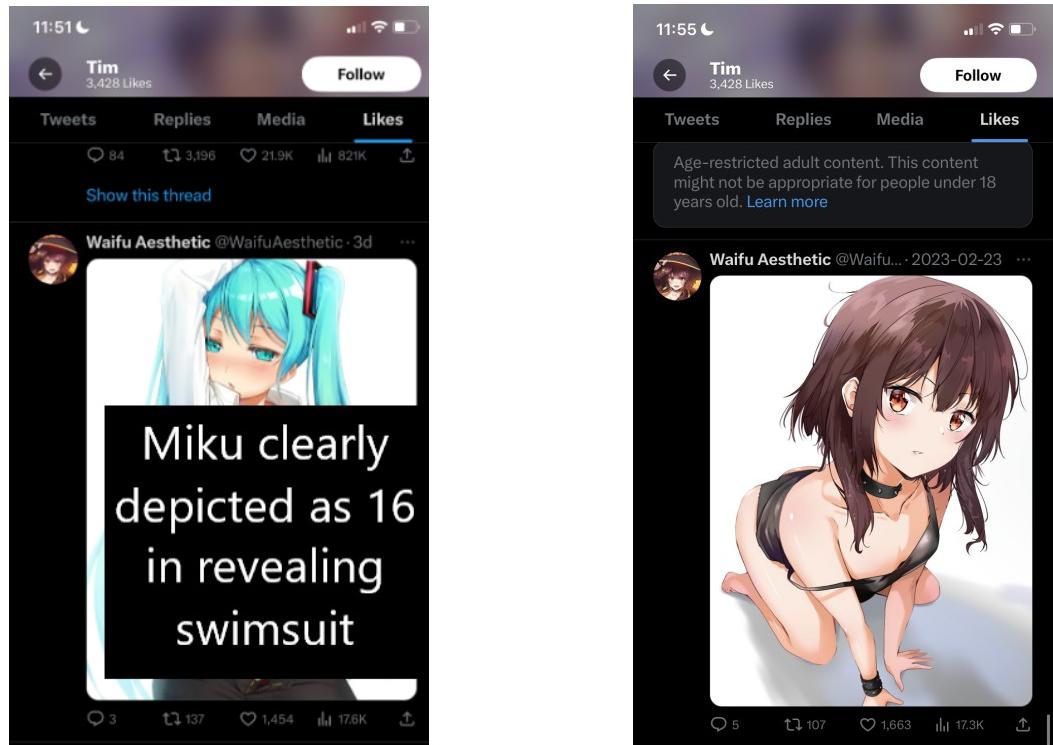

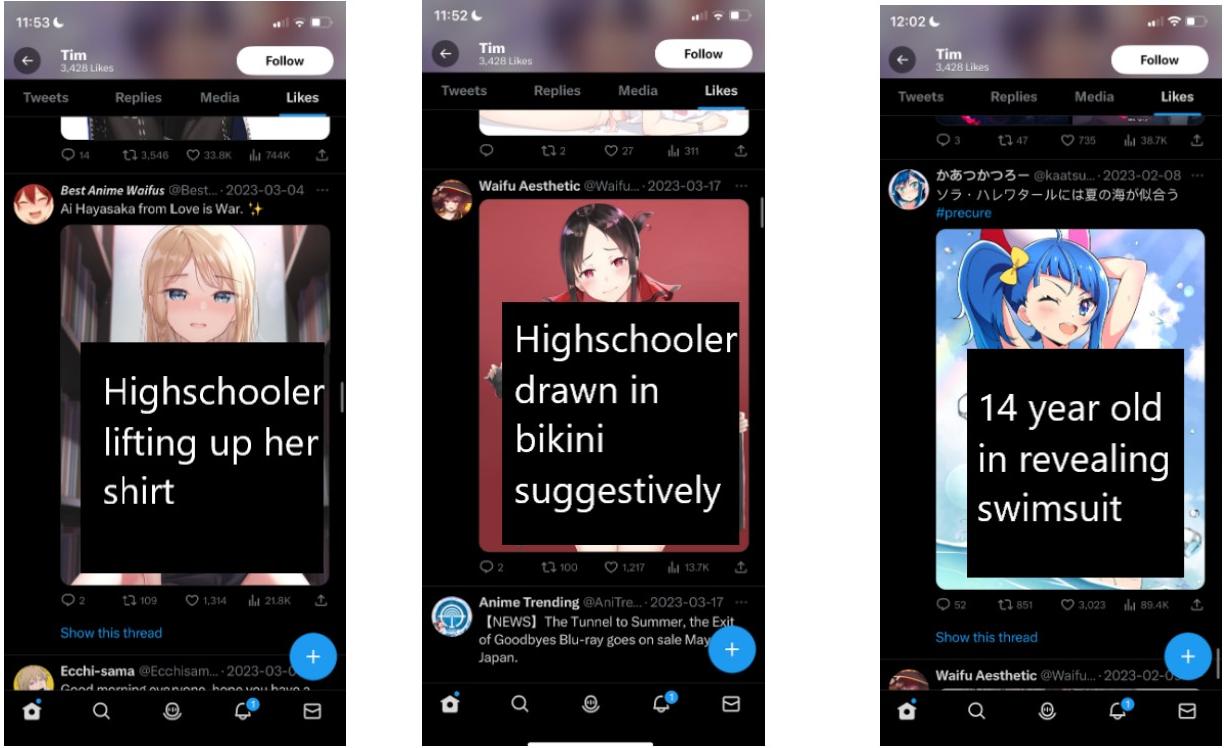

@/tniefi, one of PreCord's mods.

Inu announcing @/tniefi as a mod.

Below are examples of the fanart featuring minors in suggestive clothing/etc he liked.

Precord Twitter

The OFFICIAL Precord twitter account also follows a BUNCH of Precure fanartists that draw NSFW or suggestive art of minors. One even has their  account literally linked in the bio.
more examples

The problem with these tweets is that they are of minors. While they are not real, they give a graphic depiction of kids in sexual positions. These people also have their twitter linked in their discord bios, which will easily allow children to access porn. Remember, the PreCord staff KNOWS their server is filled with minors, yet they refuse to cater a safe space for kids.

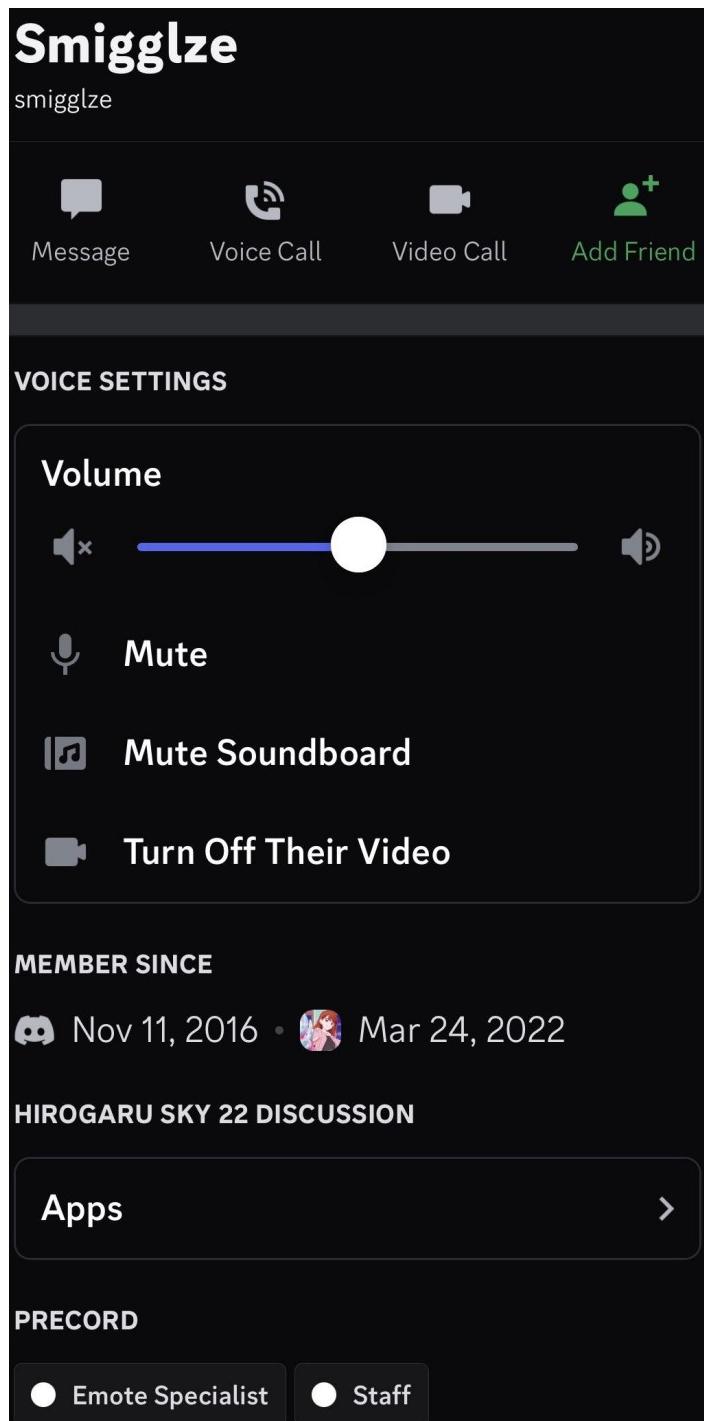

The Official Precord Twitter account ALSO tweeted this for American Independence day.

The problem with this is that they used the International Cures from Happiness Charge. The International Cures are known for being very stereotypical, as the Indian cures have glasses and used calculators. The two cures in the picture are the Bomber Girls Precure, one of which is based off of a Native American. If you know anything about American History, you should know Native Americans were NOT on the US side for the revolutionary war.

PreCord also has a Precure NSFW artist on staff as an “Emote Specialist”.

His Pixiv account is here \(obvious warning for NSFW art of children\), and this was publicly linked at some point. He has also did a very obviously sexualized art of Laura (a 13 year old), and claimed she was “aged up” (ignoring the fact that aging up children characters just to sexualize them is still not okay + she doesn’t look any different other than having larger breasts and a more defined body.) This was shared in an unrelated server, which is how NPS caught wind of Smigglze being a weirdo.

After he asked to discuss with NPS staff after the ban took effect in the server, he and other staff were placed in a GC. There he claimed that lolicon wasn't pedophilia (which, is erroneous as “lolicon” is the Japanese word for pedophile), that he doesn't see the characters as children (????), and basically every tired argument that lolicons use to defend their content, including comparing liking children to being attracted to the same sex. All of this shows evidence PreCord fails to background check their staff properly

2023/7/26 – Blossom Making Accusations + Using Blackmail

On July 26th 2023, Blossom DMed the owner of a server unrelated to PreCord or PreCure that had posted this document in their announcements channel to spread awareness about it. She said that she “took offense to the post that one of [their] staff members posted in [their] announcement channel” and claimed that this document was “crafted by people who have been bullying and harassing [her] server and staff for years.”

Instead of asking this person (whom she had never spoken to previously) politely to take the announcement down, she proceeded to threaten to report their server for “violating Discord’s terms of service” (??) (Nothing about this is a TOS violation).

The fact that the first thing she resorted to (as a full grown adult) was blackmailing is very telling. Clearly her conflict resolution skills are sorely lacking. With PreCord’s track record of handling situations, this makes sense.

The bullying and harassment part of her message ties into the rest of the messages she sent, which are attached below:

Blossom 你好吗
I was shocked to see your server seemingly supporting this kind of behaviour. This treatment goes against Discord's terms of service and will be reported. (edited)

Today at 9:48 PM
I simply have the best interest for my users and people in my server and I wish for personal safety amongst others. Even though my server isn't a popular server I still wish for people to be notified who are in more popular servers effected by this. Although it is controversial I do believe it's important to state this message. I do not believe in starting drama randomly / harassment however I do believe in personal safety. The allegations do go under investigation of the TOS as well and it's only in my best interest we have a safe digital environment.

Blossom Today at 10:04 PM
And I see you have banned me from your server for bringing this matter up with you. Thus I can assume that you are complicit with our harassers? You listed some of them as "Cool Friends" so I'm hardly surprised, just disappointed.

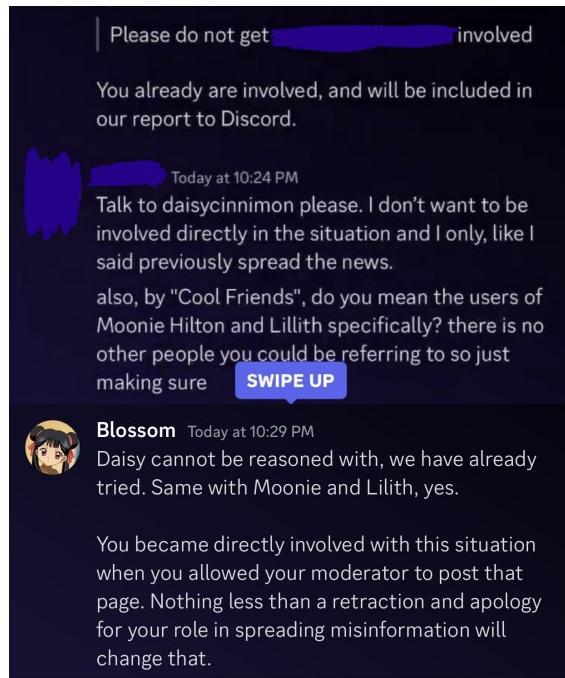

Today at 10:11 PM
Although I do have friends in my server under the "cool friends" role they do not have moderator powers and should not be treated as such. It's only a cosmetic role. We only have banned you due to concern of safety and current issues in the magical girl community. There is no bias towards you or anyone in record.
If you have an issue with our servers announcement, we are not the cause of the issue. Please do not get [REDACTED] involved for spreading information we want others to be aware about for personal safety. Please contact the people you wish to resolve the issues with.

Although I do have friends in my server under the "cool friends" role they do not have moderator ...
Today at 10:15 PM
For cool friends only a select few do have it which are Moonie Hilton, Lillith and one of my other friends who isn't even active in the sever. THEY DO NOT HAVE ANY MODERATION OR STAFF POWER. IT IS ONLY A ROLE. PLEASE DO NOT DM THEM. (edited)

Talk to Daisy Cinnamon, the creator of the document if you have issues. I am simply just an outlet.

NEW MESSAGES

Blossom Today at 10:20 PM
I'm sorry but due to "current issues" in the community I find it hard to believe that there isn't any bias. I had no intention of bringing any drama to your community, but our harassers-which include not just your "cool friends" but your moderator Etoile Lit-most definitely did. We have tried to talk to them but they are set on tarnishing my server's name and that of its staff. It has been a lot to deal with but we've managed, but they still come back every few months to try again.

Firstly, Blossom claims that “[her] harassers” are the people in the server that have the “cool friends” role. The server owner clarifies that that role is only cosmetic and as such the people who have it have no mod powers or perms and as such have no influence over the decisions of the server owner and the rest of the staff.

Blossom continues to press on and claims that “[her] harassers – which include not just [the owner’s] ‘cool friends’ [Moonie Hilton and Lillith Nagisa]” but also “Etoile Lit” (It’s Etoile Moonlit...?) had an intention to bring drama into the community. Now, the names Moonie Hilton and Lillith Nagisa might sound familiar to you. That would be because they are both staff members of the PreCure Discord server. It’s become pretty clear that Blossom is trying to claim that the PreCure staff, or at least some of them, are her and PreCord’s “harassers” and that they have been “harassing her server and staff for ‘years.’”

(Additionally, as of July 8th 2023, Etoile Moonlit is no longer staff on the PreCure discord server so this claim of hers is either blatantly a lie or she’s just ill-informed)

She then claims that they (the PreCord staff team) have “tried to talk to [the PreCure staff team]” but that they are “set on tarnishing her server’s name and that of its staff” and that they “come back every few months to try again” (implying that this has happened more than two times over the course of “years” as she had stated prior)

Many things about this statement are incorrect. Firstly, Blossom had claimed that her “harassers”, the PreCure staff team, had been “harassing her server and staff for years.” This statement is statistically impossible, as the PreCure server has only existed for about one year (16 months to be exact). If she is trying to claim that the staff members of PreCure that had been staff in “DPS” prior to its deletion were harassing her all the way back then, it’s a blatant lie. Sak didn’t let any of his staff mention PreCord by NAME at the time, let alone join the server or interact in any way at all.

Clearly, claiming that she and PreCord had been being harassed for “years” was a subtle manipulation tactic to try to exaggerate the situation and make herself (and by extension PreCord) seem like more of a victim. Essentially, she was attempting to guilt the server owner into deleting the announcement, and then she followed that up with blatant blackmailing.

Also, according to this thread posted by CureLucky (one of the owners of the PreCure server) there had only been two big conflicts between the two servers. The first one was the April 2023 PreCord thread, which is covered below, and the other was this document, which clearly Blossom is convinced PreCure has a hand in.

During the controversy surrounding the first thread, a PreCord admin (buildknuckle) (who is actually not even an admin on PreCord anymore) did reach out to the PreCure staff via Discord group chat. However, apparently not much productive discussion was had, and Buildknuckle ended up ghosting the PreCure team. This time around, some of the PreCure staff have been “[retweeting] things in support of the doc, as [they] prioritize the safety of minors” but as a server they have been neutral, with some discussion being allowed to occur in the sensitive-topics chat in their server, and they have “never encouraged or engaged in harassment.”

This debunks Blossom’s statement that they had tried to talk to the PreCure staff, because their attempt at talking was throwing one of their admins in a groupchat with all of the PreCure owners, (sounds familiar!) and then letting him ghost them when the chat died for more than a few hours, leaving the situation completely unresolved.

Moving on to the rest of Blossom’s messages, she ignores the unrelated server owner’s plea to not be made involved, and sticks to her guns, threatening them with a report yet again. (Note that she has not actually asked the owner nicely to take down the post). The server owner asks again for Blossom to speak to Daisycinnamon, and then asks Blossom to specify whether or not she really means Moonie and Lillith when she says “harasser.”

Blossom confirms that she means Moonie and Lillith when she means “harasser”, which with the context of her previous messages implies that that also includes the rest of the PreCure Staff. She then says that “Daisy can not be reasoned with” and that they already tried, which is also a lie.

Finally, at the very end of this long-winded guilt-trip-blackmailfest, Blossom says that “a retraction and an apology for [the server owner]’s role in spreading misinformation” would be the only thing that would stop Blossom from reporting the server.

Wow! You could have started this whole conversation with that!

Messaging someone you don’t know and starting it off by saying “You offended me. I am a victim. I am such a victim. Pity me. How dare you.” and then attempting to blackmail the person by threatening to report their server in an attempt to avoid having to reason with the person and having an actual intelligent conversation... is insane. Any normal person should be able to see how backwards her logic is here, and by extension her problem-solving skills. Do you think in kindergarten she ever had to use her basic problem-solving skills to try to work out a compromise with one of her classmates? I sure wouldn't want to be her teacher!

This entire argument is yet another example of just how horrid PreCord's admins are at communication and problem-solving.

April 2023

In late April of 2023, DaisyCinnimon made an unorganized call out thread on PreCord. After a week, Daisy then released a multi thread call out on Precord and their wrongs and what they can do to fix these flaws. Unfortunately, the thread was deleted due to Daisy's twitter account getting mass reported and yet to get the account back, which then led to the creation of this doc.

After the first thread was released, Inu tweeted this:

Later, NoblestEA, an event manager and suspected mouthpiece for the PreCord staff posted a response to the thread. In comparison to the multiple part thread Daisy made with proper screenshot evidence on everything, detailed history/background on the Precure fandom on Discord and substantiated claims, this TwitLonger Nobletea made had almost no real countering to all the claims that were being properly presented and honestly made PreCord and their team look even worse (and didn't even bother addressing the major issues such as proship art constantly being shared and silencing criticism).

Stepping out of PreCure and MG for now. When I was a teen fan, I never felt such vitriol that kids these days have. The slightest perception of wrongdoing is far too dramatic, and it's not enjoyable to even be on a space that is designed to be celebratory of the genre.

And for the final comment, because I can predict them already: No, the minors aren't "too scary" at all. They're obnoxious. It's always teens with a lot of "d*mi" and "*ro" in their bios to feel special and unique that want to be the most outspoken and demeaning.

PreCure (Server)

There's also NPS (aka PreCure), another Precure server which was made by staff from an old, deleted Precure server in a hope to break the cycle of nasty people monopolizing the community. The owner of DPS (the old Precure server) mistreated staff and banned them or threatened to demote them for speaking up when he unbanned some people who were making a staff member feel like they were being stalked and also refused to ban people from a Hentai Precure server that were also in DPS.

The new server is jointly owned by four people, and all of the staff have taken measures to ensure that the safety of their members and staff come first. Measures include having a bot filter that prevents people from sharing art by people who are known to sexualize minors or other content that may not be suitable for a server with a young memberbase, banning members who indulge in content sexualizing minors (upon proof being provided), and overall listening to members when there is an issue that concerns them.

This does not mean their team is perfect either as they did previously have a case of a staff member who tried to unfairly force their views and attitudes onto the other staff, creating a hostile atmosphere in the staff chat and server. This staff member will remain unnamed but they have since been removed for their unprofessional and hostile behavior towards other members, staff, and servers.

PreCord Blocks and Lack of Professionalism

There's a history of PreCord having unfriendly (but unspoken) behavior towards NPS.

Flash forward about a year later (this current year of 2023) to when Noblestea randomly blocked 90% of the staff from the PreCure server on the PreCord Twitter account. So, a NPS co-owner reached out to an admin from the PreCord server to ask what's up with that. The admin basically says that the person who runs the PreCord Twitter blocked staff indiscriminately for "contributing negatively to public discourse" and that there is an "undercurrent of poor relations".

After that message, the NPS co-owner responded by asking for specifics as to what discourse is being referred to and which staff were involved, as well as asking what is meant by "undercurrent of poor relations". Neither of these questions were ever answered and the NPS staff are still left wondering what on earth PreCord was talking about.

(Ftr, the NPS staff have stated on several occasions that they don't view PreCord as a "rival" or anything. They have only been trying to coexist with them from the beginning and have even told people on several occasions not to drag Precord when the subject would inevitably come up from time-to-time.)

After a couple of messages, the Precord admin offers to make a "group DM" with the admins/owners of the PreCure server and PreCord. Before this can ever happen, the PreCord Twitter is botted and instead of returning with an update on the status of the proposed "group DM", the Precord admin sends a DM to the NPS co-owner, asking if her staff knew anything about the botting. (This effectively insinuates that they think NPS orchestrated the entire mess which is untrue as NPS staff had gotten their accounts "botted" several times and don't have anything to gain by botting accounts.)

Insinuating a fellow server of attempting to bot your account with no evidence and also never explaining one of the server owners how their staff "negatively contributed" to "public discourse" after being asked also looks quite unprofessional, esp. if you don't provide evidence of your claim. Evidence is important.

A couple days later, Noblestea made a twitlonger addressing the blocks and made a couple of claims that were untrue, thus forcing a co-owner who didn't want to be involved to have to make a Twitter thread addressing Noblestea's claims.

I can't remember every single one but the big ones were the claims that 1. Precure and PreCord had already attempted to work things out in a group DM; this had yet to happen at the time of the twitlonger as the NPS staff had been waiting and waiting for the admin that the NPS co-owner spoke with to make the group DM or give us indication it was still going to happen. 2. that the PreCure server copied them; they mentioned their own "Precure day" event as evidence of NPS copying them because NPS had also done one... except Precure Day is an actual thing in the Japanese fanbase and the original deleted DPS had a Precure Day event similarly. It's not a concept original to PreCord at all. They also said NPS copied their "bracket", which is also untrue as theirs was interaction bait on their Twitter and the NPS bracket was a bracket the NPS staff had planned out to celebrate reaching 1k members.

Accusing someone else of copying you for something that is 1. Not a unique/specific idea 2. Something widely done is very unprofessional and petty, especially if you are not going to provide any screenshots to back up your claim. It would be akin to a fast food restaurant accusing another fast food restaurant of copying them because they both offer cheeseburgers and French fries on their menus. Same thing applies here. Certainly if a copyright lawyer attempted to take a case to court and then didn't provide evidence of infringement, then they would probably be dismissed.

Several of the big fandom content creators liked the twitlonger even though the twitlonger consists of fallacies and misinformation accusing a fellow Precure server of things that were untrue/misconstrued. Whether this was misunderstanding or an attempt to deceive is up for question, but it doesn't look good when you consider Blossom's manipulatively worded twitlonger that came sometime after. (Blossom's manipulative twitlonger will be addressed and analyzed in a separate doc.)

Questionable Partners

On July 3rd, PreCord announced their partnership with a fellow Precure focused server, Precure Fans.

Precure Fans seems like an average unproblematic Precure server, however looking into it is run by a homo and transphobic Christian kid who refuses to take responsibility for her actions. This is semi publicly known info as multiple bad reviews on the server's Disboard page describing the staff's issues were up but the server has been taken off of Disboard very recently. Either way, this once again shows that PreCord puts little effort into background checking the servers or people they choose to endorse. Now let's get into the evidence of Precure Fans and their owner being bigoted, silencing staff, disrespecting triggers, misgendering and doubling down on all of this.

 peep 05/03/2023 8:19 PM
@everyone (updated, sorry for the ping)

SERVER RULES

1: please do not send discord links or links
8: no racism, or disrespect towards people who have certain beliefs or people with a certain sexuality

9: no pedophilia

10: do not shove your beliefs down people's throat, such as LGBTQ+/pronouns, religion, opinions, or politics

11: don't make fun of other people's sexuality, religion, opinions, or what politics they believe

12: make sure to have fun, and to not be toxic

if there's any rules I need to be specific about I will state them later

Firstly, here are the server rules. They appear to be mostly your standard discord server rules, but rule 10 gives away the true nature of peep/the server. Treating LGBTQ+ as something that could possibly be “shoved down someone’s throat” is one thing, but including pronouns with that is ridiculous, as pronouns are used in every single language in some way to refer to people. Acting like they’re an option or a belief makes it clear that you’re transphobic or at least support transphobic ideologies.

Additionally, Peep had in the past removed multiple staff members off of the precurefans staff team because they had first asked peep to refer to them by their correct pronouns, and they also had expressed that religion was a trigger for them. (Screenshots below)

 Blossom 07/03/2023
@Announcements

You all may have noticed some new faces in our midst recently. Precord has now partnered with the following servers, the invite links to which can be found in # [partners] :

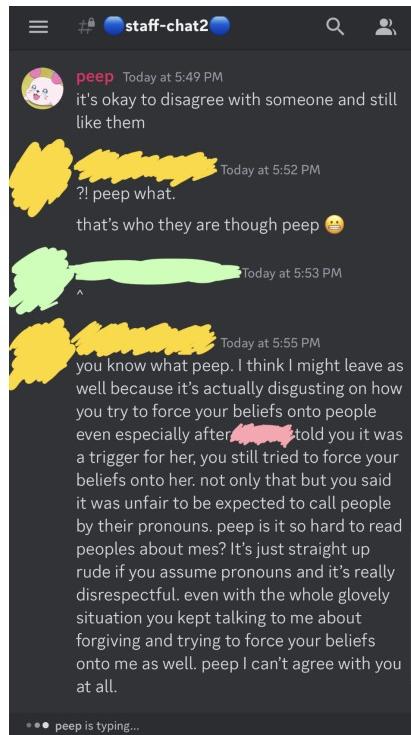

Cardcaptor Sakura
Love Live Radio
Precure Fans
Sailor Alliance
Sailor Moon Universe

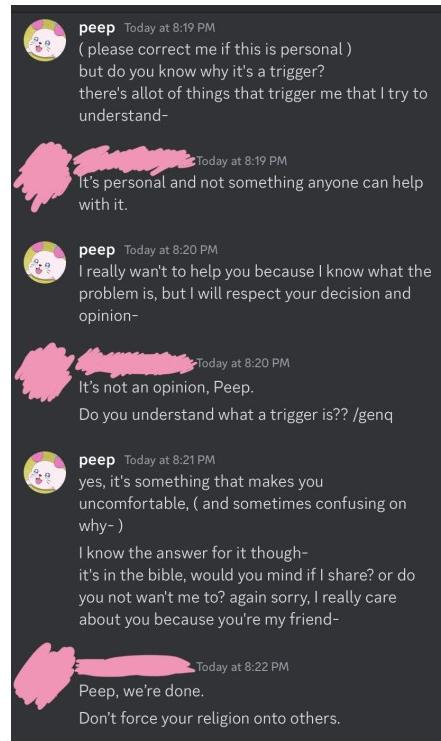

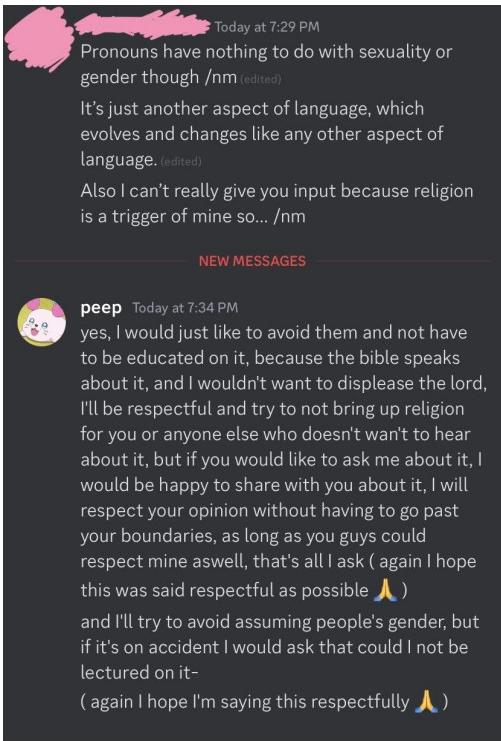

We also have more pending partnerships that I will share on another day. But until then please check these ones out if you're interested, and of course give a big Precord welcome to everyone who finds their way into our community. Thanks!

Blossom announcing server partnerships, Precure Fans being one of them.

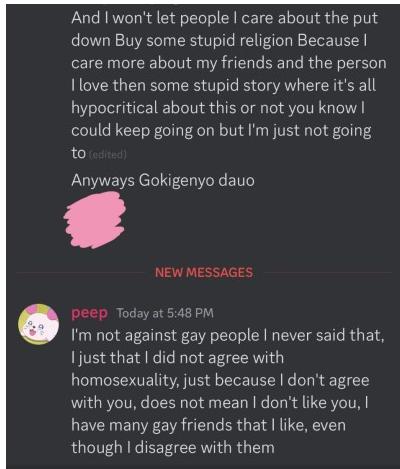

Peep's reaction to someone asking her to use their correct pronouns.

Peep saying she'd like to “avoid pronouns and not have to be educated on it” and going on to press this staff member on why religion is a trigger for her.

Peep using the classic “I have gay friends!!” excuse.

All of this evidence proves that without a doubt, Peep holds bigoted beliefs.

Regardless of whether the PreCord staff knew of all that had happened behind the scenes in Precure Fans (which afaik they did not know), if they thoroughly checked their partner servers for red flags, they should have seen rule 10 and noticed something was very off. It's especially worrying when you remember that they had established the "Rainbow Cure Center" in their server, a category of channels exclusively to discuss LGBTQ+ topics and the like (which has since been deleted/made private entirely and moved to their fanclub forum). You'd think they would be more attentive and notice when someone is bigoted.

In fact, rule 2 of their "Rainbow Cure Centre" is this:

2. LGBT+ people and their rights are not politics. While the world treats their rights as politics, the rights of any human being are non-negotiable. News articles and bills about the LGBT+ community may include information about members of specific political parties. This server is in no way affiliated with any political party. We ask to keep discussion productive about tackling discrimination laws rather than about specific political parties or candidates.

This is ironic considering Peep lumped the LGBTQ+ community in with topics like politics in rule 10 in her server. It's very clear that the PreCord staff does not actually pay close attention to who they partner with at all, which gives people with ill-intent and predators an opportunity to get into their PreCord and interact with the many minors or even any marginalized people who may be at risk of hate speech there.
